

6과 맛있는 음식을 먹을 때 행복해요

Chapter 6 — I'm happy when I eat good food

This chapter at a glance

주제	Topic 기분과 감정 — moods and feelings
어휘와 문법	Vocabulary & grammar 기분, 감정 관련 어휘 / 동형-겠- / 동형-을 때 — words for feelings · guessing how someone must feel · when something happens
활동	Activities 기분에 대해 말하기, 친구나 가족에게 이메일 쓰기 — talking about how you feel; writing an email to a friend or family
문화와 정보	Culture & information 이모티콘 — emoticons

Until now the book has taught you to describe things — places, clothes, symptoms. This chapter turns inward and teaches you to say how you feel, which is what turns an acquaintance into a friend. It is also what lets you respond when someone tells you their news.

동형-겠- is the more socially useful of the two grammar points. It is how you say 'that must be...' — 많이 걱정되겠어요, you must be so worried. Korean expects that response; hearing bad news and saying nothing reads as indifference.

동형-을 때 gives you 'when'. It builds the chapter title — 맛있는 음식을 먹을 때 행복해요 — and it is how you answer 언제 행복해요? Together the two turn feelings from single words into sentences.

도입

Warm-up

이 사람들은 기분이 어때요?

How are these people feeling?

여러분은 언제 기분이 좋아요? 언제 기분이 안 좋아요?

When are you in a good mood? When are you in a bad one?

What the original page shows

사진 1

a family round a table, laughing over a shared meal

사진 2

a scholarship ceremony — students holding certificates beneath a banner reading 장학 증서 수여식

사진 3

a woman at her desk, unable to study, picturing someone lying in a hospital bed 기분 is your mood right now, and it is spoken of as something that is good or not good rather than something you are. 기분이 좋아요 — the mood is good. Korean puts the feeling outside you and lets you comment on it.

Notice the negative is 기분이 안 좋다, not a separate word for 'bad'. Korean prefers negating the positive here, and it lands softer — closer to 'not great' than 'awful'.

어휘와 문법 1

Vocabulary & grammar 1

지금 기분이 어때요?

How are you feeling right now?

기분이 좋다 — feeling good

기쁘다 to be glad, delighted

즐겁다

to be enjoying oneself

신나다

to be excited, buzzing

반갑다

to be pleased to see someone

행복하다 to be happy

상을 받았어요. 그래서 기뻐요.

I won a prize. So I'm delighted.

기쁘다 and 행복하다 are not interchangeable. 기쁘다 is the sharp gladness of something that has just happened; 행복하다 is the settled state. You are 기뻐요 about the prize and 행복해요 about your life.

반갑다 has no single English word. It is the pleasure of meeting someone — which is why 반갑습니다 is what you say on being introduced. It is about the person, not the event.

즐겁다 describes the activity you are in the middle of, so it goes with trips, parties and time spent together. 신나다 is louder — the excitement that makes you want to move.

여러분은 무엇을 하면 기분이 좋아요?

What puts you in a good mood?

저는 운동하면 기분이 좋아요.

Exercise puts me in a good mood.

무엇을 하면 uses 동형-으면 from the last chapter. The book keeps recycling grammar into new topics rather than leaving it behind, which is worth noticing: nothing you have learned is finished with.

동형-겠-

Verb/Adjective + -겠- — that must be...

다른 사람의 일이나 상황을 추측할 때 사용해요.

Used to guess at someone else's situation or how they must feel.

가 생일 선물로 지갑을 받았어요.

I got a wallet for my birthday.

나 와, 정말 좋겠어요.

Oh, you must be pleased.

예문 — Examples

가 서울에서 10시에 KTX를 탈 거예요.

I'm taking the 10 o'clock KTX from Seoul.

나 그럼 부산에 12시 전에 도착하겠네요.

Then you'll be in Busan before twelve.

가 어제 밤 11시까지 일했어요.

I worked until eleven last night.

나 많이 피곤하겠어요.

You must be exhausted.

내일 비가 오니까 날씨가 춥겠어요.

It's going to rain tomorrow, so it'll be cold.

How it attaches

-겠-

straight onto the stem, no 받침 rule at all

좋다 → 좋겠어요 · 춥다 → 춥겠어요 · 오다 → 오겠어요 · 아프다 → 아프겠어요

This is the easiest grammar point in the book: -겠- goes onto any stem unchanged. No vowel harmony, no 받침 check, no irregulars. Even 춥다, which misbehaves nearly everywhere else, is simply 춥겠어요.

The guess must be about someone else, not yourself. You do not say 저는 기쁘겠어요 about your own feelings — you know them. Used of another person it shows you have understood their situation, which is exactly its social work.

-겠네요 and -겠어요 both appear here. The -네요 version adds a note of reacting in the moment, as if the thought has just struck you. It is very common in conversation and slightly warmer.

연습 1 — 그림을 보고 이야기해 보세요.

가 친구들과 여행을 가요.

I'm going travelling with friends.

나 즐겁겠어요.

That'll be fun.

1) 장학금을 받았다 → 기분이 좋다

got a scholarship → must feel good

3) 날씨가 흐리다 → 비가 오다

the sky is grey → it'll rain

2) 다음 달에 고향에 가다 → 가족들이 좋아하다 going home next month → the family will be pleased 연습 2 — 친구의 계획을 듣고 이야기해 보세요.

- 가 오랜만에 가족들을 다 만나요.
I'm seeing all my family for the first time in ages.
- 나 정말 반갑겠어요.
You must be so glad.

어휘와 문법 2

Vocabulary & grammar 2

지금 기분이 어때요?

How are you feeling right now?

기분이 안 좋다 — feeling low

슬프다 to be sad

외롭다 to be lonely

화나다 to be angry

걱정되다 to be worried

짜증나다

to be irritated, fed up

답답하다

to feel stifled, frustrated

강아지가 죽었어요. 그래서 슬퍼요.

My dog died. So I'm sad.

화나다 and 짜증나다 differ in size. 화나다 is real anger; 짜증나다 is the smaller, wearing irritation of traffic, queues and things not working. The pictures on the page make the distinction — a quarrel against a traffic jam.

답답하다 is worth learning carefully. It is the feeling of being blocked — you cannot say what you mean, or cannot make yourself understood. Every learner of a foreign language knows it, and this is the word for it.

Both 화나다 and 짜증나다 end in நா다, the same verb as 열이 나다 in the last chapter. Feelings, like symptoms, are treated as things that come out of you rather than things you do.

여러분은 무엇을 하면 기분이 안 좋아요?

What puts you in a bad mood?

친구하고 싸우면 기분이 안 좋아요. 화나요.

Arguing with a friend puts me in a bad mood. It makes me angry.

동형-을 때

Verb/Adjective + -을 때 — when 어떤 행위나 상황이 일어난 순간이나 동안을 나타내요.

Marks the moment or the period during which something happens.

가 후엔 씨는 언제 행복해요?

Huyen, when are you happy?

나 저는 가족들과 맛있는 음식을 먹을 때 행복해요.

I'm happy when I eat good food with my family.

예문 — Examples

가 언제 부모님이 많이 생각나요?

When do you think of your parents most?

나 아플 때 부모님이 생각나요.

I think of them when I'm ill.

윗사람과 식사할 때 숟가락을 먼저 들지 마세요.

When eating with someone senior, don't pick up your spoon first.

숙제가 많아서 힘들 때 한국 친구가 도와줘요.

When the homework is heavy, a Korean friend helps me.

Which form do I use?

-을 때 after a final consonant (받침)

먹다 → 먹을 때 · 많다 → 많을 때

-ㄴ 때 after a vowel

가다 → 갈 때 · ★힘들다 → 힘들 때

The book's Tip matters: 과거의 시간을 나타낼 때는 '-었을 때'를 사용한다. For something finished, put the past inside — 처음 한국에 왔을 때, when I first came to Korea. You will see that exact phrase in the email on the reading page.

때 is a noun meaning 'time', so 먹을 때 is literally 'the time of eating'. That is why the verb takes the -을/-ㄴ ending — it is describing the noun, the same way 형-은 described a noun back in chapter 1.

★힘들다 is the ㄴ stem once more, behaving as it did with -으면: the ㄴ stays and nothing is added, giving 힘들 때. Three chapters, three endings, one consistent rule.

연습 1 — 그림을 보고 이야기해 보세요.

가 기분이 안 좋을 때 어떻게 해요?

What do you do when you're feeling low?

나 기분이 안 좋을 때 산책해요.

I go for a walk when I'm feeling low.

1) 화나다 → 많이 먹다

angry → eat a lot

2) 답답하다 → 친구에게 이야기하다

frustrated → talk to a friend

3) 밤에 잠이 안 오다 → 조용한 음악을 듣다 can't sleep at night → listen to quiet music

연습 2 — 여러분의 기분을 친구와 이야기해 보세요.

언제 행복해요?

When are you happy?

언제 외로워요?

When are you lonely?

언제 슬퍼요?

When are you sad?

저는 부모님과 전화 통화할 때 행복해요.

I'm happy when I'm on the phone to my parents.

말하기와 듣기

Speaking & listening

친구에게 안 좋은 일이 생겼어요. 다음과 같이 이야기해 보세요.

Something bad has happened to a friend. Practise the exchange.

아나이스 안젤라 씨, 무슨 일 있어요? 얼굴이 안 좋네요.

Angela, is something wrong? You don't look well.

안젤라 아버지께서 몸이 안 좋으셔서 병원에 계세요.

My father isn't well and he's in hospital.

아나이스 정말요? 많이 걱정되겠어요.

Really? You must be so worried.

안젤라 네, 이런 일이 있을 땐 정말 슬퍼요. 빨리 고향에 가서 아버지를 보고 싶어요.

Yes — times like this are really hard. I want to go home and see him soon.

Swap in these sets

1) 아버지께서 몸이 안 좋으셔서 병원에 계시다 | 걱정되다 | 아버지를 보다

father unwell and in hospital — worried — see him

2) 제일 친한 친구가 고향으로 돌아갔다 | 외롭다 | 친구를 만나다

best friend has gone home — lonely — meet them

얼굴이 안 좋네요 — 'your face isn't good' — is how Koreans say you look unwell or troubled. It opens the conversation without demanding an answer, and it is kinder than asking outright what is wrong.

많이 걱정되겠어요 is the chapter's grammar doing its real job. When someone tells you bad news, this is the expected reply. Saying nothing, or moving straight to advice, reads as cold.

께서 and 계시다 both mark respect for the father: 께서 is the honorific 이/가, 계시다 the honorific 있다. Korean raises the person spoken about, not just the person spoken to — and family are raised when speaking to outsiders.

연습 2 — 친구의 얼굴을 보고 서로 기분을 이야기해 보세요.

가 얼굴이 안 좋아요. 무슨 일 있어요?

You don't look well. Is something wrong?

나 지갑을 잃어버렸어요. 그래서 짜증나요.

I lost my wallet. It's really annoying.

듣기 — 고천 씨와 선생님이 이야기해요. 잘 듣고 답해 보세요.

1) 고천 씨는 다음 주 수업에 왜 못 와요?

Why can't Gochon come to class next week?

2) 고천 씨는 요즘 기분이 어때요?

How has she been feeling lately?

읽기와 쓰기

Reading & writing

다음 글을 읽고 질문에 답해 보세요.

Read the email and answer the questions.

이메일 — 한국 생활이 정말 즐거워요

받는 사람

To

나시르 <nasir3792@tmail.com>

보낸 사람

From

잠시드 <jamshid@tmail.com>

제목

Subject

한국 생활이 정말 즐거워요 — Life in Korea is really enjoyable

나시르 씨, 안녕하세요? 요즘 어떻게 지내요?

Nasir, how are you? How have you been lately?

저는 아주 잘 지내요. 작년에 처음 한국에 왔을 때는 정말 힘들고 외로웠어요.

I'm doing very well. When I first came to Korea last year it was really hard, and lonely.

그리고 한국 사람의 이야기를 이해하지 못해서 답답했어요.

And I couldn't understand what Koreans were saying, which was frustrating.

하지만 지금은 좋은 친구도 많이 사귀고 한국말도 잘해요.

But now I've made plenty of good friends and my Korean is fine.

그래서 요즘은 한국 생활이 정말 즐거워요.

So these days life in Korea is really enjoyable.

다음 달에는 친구들과 제주도로 여행을 갈 거예요. 정말 재미있겠지요?

Next month I'm going to Jeju with friends. It'll be great, won't it?

다음에 나시르 씨하고도 함께 여행하고 싶어요. 우리 꼭 같이 가요.

Next time I'd like to travel with you too. Let's definitely go together.

그럼 다음에 또 연락할게요. 잠시드 드림

I'll write again soon. From Jamshid

Questions

1) 잠시드 씨는 처음 한국에 왔을 때 어땠어요?

→ 힘들고 외로웠어요. 답답했어요

2) 잠시드 씨는 요즘 생활이 어때요?

→ 정말 즐거워요

3) 잠시드 씨는 다음 달에 무엇을 할 거예요?

→ 친구들과 제주도로 여행을 갈 거예요

왔을 때 is the past form the Tip warned about — 처음 한국에 왔을 때, when I first came. Compare it with 올 때, which would mean whenever he comes. The 었 is what fixes it in the past.

The email has a clear shape worth copying: greet, ask how they are, describe how things were, describe how they are now, mention a plan, propose meeting, sign off. 드림 after your name is the standard closing, a little more formal than English 'from'.

재미있겠지요? puts -겠- with -지요, turning the guess into an invitation to agree. It expects a yes — much like 'it'll be great, won't it?' rather than a genuine question.

연습 2 — 여러분도 친구나 가족에게 한국 생활에 대해 이메일을 써 보세요.

문화와 정보 — 이모티콘

Culture & information — Emoticons

여러분은 문자를 보낼 때 어떻게 합니까?

What do you do when you send a text?

요즘 사람들은 문자를 보낼 때 글자와 이모티콘(그림말)을 함께 보냅니다.

These days people send emoticons along with the words.

이렇게 하면 기분이나 감정을 잘 전할 수 있고 재미도 있습니다.

That way the mood or feeling comes across better, and it's fun too.

이모티콘은 나라마다 조금씩 다릅니다. 한국에서는 다음과 같이 사용합니다.

Emoticons differ a little from country to country. In Korea they are used like this.

한국의 이모티콘 — Korean emoticons

웃을 때 — ㅋㅋ, ㅎㅎ, ^^

laughing — the consonants of laughter, and smiling eyes

슬플 때 — ππ, ㄸㄸ

sad — vowels shaped like falling tears

화났을 때 — ——

angry — a flat, unamused stare

고마울 때 — ㄱㅅ grateful — the first letters of 감사

'응'이라고 말할 때 — ㅇㅇ, ㅇㅋ

saying yes — ㅇㅇ for 응, ㅇㅋ for okay

These are built from Hangul itself, which is why they look like nothing you have seen elsewhere. ㅋㅋ is the sound of laughing, ππ is a face crying. Knowing them is the difference between reading a Korean text and merely decoding it.

ㄱㅅ and ㅇㅋ work by taking first letters — 감사 and OK. Korean shortens constantly this way in messages, and once you see the principle you can often work out an unfamiliar one.

Register matters here too. ㅋㅋ and ㅇㅇ are for friends; sending them to a manager reads as too casual, the same way 반말 would. With someone senior, write the words out.

Questions

1) 사람들은 왜 이모티콘을 사용해요?

→ 기분이나 감정을 잘 전할 수 있고 재미있어서 사용해요

2) 웃을 때 사용하는 이모티콘은 뭐예요?

→ ㅋㅋ, ㅎㅎ, ^^

3) 여러분은 어떤 이모티콘을 자주 사용해요?

→ Which do you use most?

발음 · 배운 어휘 확인

Pronunciation · Vocabulary checklist

발음 1 — 다음을 듣고 따라 읽으세요.

즐겁겠네요 [즐겁켄네요]

겟 tenses to 겐, and the ㅅ assimilates into the ㄴ

좋겠네요 [조켄네요]

the ㅎ merges with ㄴ to give 켄

무슨 일 [무슨 닐]

an ㄴ appears before the 일

좋겠네요 → [조켄네요] is last chapter's ㅎ rule again: ㅎ + ㄴ becomes ㄷ. The grammar is new but the pronunciation is not, and 좋겠어요 is a phrase you will say constantly.

무슨 일 → [무슨 닐] is ㄴ insertion. When a word ending in a consonant is followed by one starting 이/야/여/요/유, an ㄴ appears between them. It is why 무슨 일 있어요? sounds like one word rather than two.

발음 2 — 다음을 듣고 연습해 보세요.

- 가 오랜만에 가족들과 여행을 가요.
I'm going travelling with my family for the first time in ages.
- 나 즐겁겠네요.
That'll be lovely.
- 가 이번에 장학금을 받았어요.
I got a scholarship this time.
- 나 기분이 좋겠네요.
You must be pleased.
- 가 고향에 무슨 일로 가요?
What are you going home for?
- 나 오빠가 결혼해요.
My brother's getting married.

배운 어휘 확인 — Vocabulary checklist

기분이 좋다

to be in a good mood

슬프다

to be sad

기쁘다 to be glad

외롭다 to be lonely

행복하다 to be happy

화나다 to be angry

신나다 to be excited

걱정되다 to be worried

반갑다

to be pleased to see someone

짜증나다 to be irritated

즐겁다 to be enjoyable

답답하다

to feel stifled, frustrated

기분이 안 좋다

to be in a bad mood