Chapter 7 — It's a housewarming, so I'll bring detergent or toilet roll

This chapter at a glance

주제	Topic 초대와 방문 — inviting and visiting
어휘와 문법	Vocabulary & grammar 초대와 방문 어휘 / 동-을래요? / 동형-으니까 — words for invitations and visits · asking what someone would like · giving the reason
활동	Activities 초대하기, 이메일 답장하기 — inviting someone; replying to an email
문화와 정보	Culture & information 집들이 선물 — housewarming presents

Chapter 3 mentioned in passing that toilet roll and detergent are standard 집들이 gifts. This chapter is the full explanation, and it teaches you how to accept the invitation, what to bring, and how to behave once you are through the door.

동-을래요? is the everyday way to invite. It asks what the other person would like rather than announcing what will happen, which is why it sounds friendly: 우리 집에 올래요? — would you like to come over?

동형-으니까 gives the reason, and it is the third reason-marker in this book after 아/어서 and 동형-고 해서. The differences are small but real, and the notes on that page set them out.

사진 1

guests arriving at a front door with toilet roll and a bottle of detergent

사진 2

an office visit — two men shaking hands across a desk labelled 부장 박호진

사진 3

the same guests inside, greeting the family round a low table laid with food

Notice the two kinds of visit side by side: a home and an office. Korean treats them with the same set of manners — contact beforehand, arrive on time, greet properly — and this chapter teaches both together.

The gifts in the first picture are the point of the whole chapter. They are not random household items; each carries a wish, and the culture page at the end explains what.

어휘와 문법 1

Vocabulary & grammar 1

무슨 일로 다른 사람들을 초대해요? 그리고 무엇을 해요?

What do people invite others for? And what happens?

집들이 — a housewarming

휴지

toilet roll

세제 detergent

선물을 가져가다

to take a present

손님을 맞이하다

to welcome the guests

음식을 차리다

to lay out the food

돌잔치 — a first birthday party

장난감

a toy

금반지

a gold ring

손님을 대접하다

to entertain the guests

돌잔치 is the party for a baby's first birthday, and it is a large occasion in Korea — often held in a hall, with the child in miniature 한복. A 금반지 is the traditional gift: gold keeps its value, so it is a present to the child's future rather than to the day.

차리다 and 대접하다 are not the same. 차리다 is the physical laying out of dishes; 대접하다 is looking after the guests as a whole — serving, refilling, making sure nobody is left out. A good host does both.

맞이하다 is to receive someone arriving. You will meet it again at new year — 새해를 맞이하다, to greet the new year — because Korean treats an arriving year much as it treats an arriving guest.

여러분 고향에서는 언제 손님을 초대해요? 손님을 초대할 다음에 뭘 해요?

When do people invite guests where you come from? What happens after they arrive?

생일에 손님을 초대해요. 손님을 초대하면 맛있는 음식을 차려서 손님에게 대접해요.

We invite guests for birthdays. When we do, we lay out good food and look after them.

동-을래요?

Verb + -을래요? — would you like to...?

구어에서, 다른 사람의 의견을 물을 때 사용해요.

Used in speech to ask what the other person would like.

- 가 주말에 집들이를 할 거예요. 슬기 아빠하고 우리 집에 올래요?
We're having a housewarming at the weekend. Would you and Seulgi's dad like to come over?
- 나 네, 같이 갈게요.
Yes, we'll come together.

예문 — Examples

- 가 주말에 같이 밥 먹을래요?
Would you like to get something to eat at the weekend?
- 나 미안해요. 약속이 있어서 못 가요.
Sorry, I've got plans so I can't.

집에 손님들이 오실 거예요. 그러니까 청소 좀 할래요?
We've got guests coming, so would you do a bit of cleaning?

길이 많이 막혀요. 조금만 더 기다려 줄래요?
The traffic is bad. Could you wait a little longer?

Which form do I use?

- 을래요? after a final consonant (받침)
먹다 → 먹을래요? · 읽다 → 읽을래요?
- 르래요? after a vowel 오다 → 올래요? · ★만들다 → 만들래요?

-을래요? is spoken Korean, not written. It belongs in conversation and messages between people who are comfortable with each other. For an invitation to someone senior, 오시겠어요? or 오실래요? with the honorific 시 is safer.

Attached to 주다 it becomes a soft request: 기다려 줄래요? — would you wait for me? Adding 주다 makes the action a favour done for you, and -을래요? then asks rather than tells. Two politeness devices in one short phrase.

Used of yourself it states a preference instead: 저는 김밥 먹을래요 — I'll have the gimbap. Same ending, no question mark, and the meaning turns from asking to choosing.

연습 1 — 친구를 만날 거예요. 친구에게 의견을 물어보세요.

- 가 우리 어디에서 만날래요?
Where shall we meet?
- 나 회사 근처 커피숍에서 만나요.
Let's meet at the coffee shop near the office.

보기) 만나다 — 공원 / 집 앞 / 커피숍

meeting: the park / outside the house / a coffee shop

1) 가다 — 영화관 / 노래방 / 놀이공원

going: the cinema / karaoke / an amusement park

2) 타다 — 버스 / 택시 / 지하철

travelling: bus / taxi / underground

3) 먹다 — 김밥 / 짜장면 / 떡볶이

eating: gimbap / jjajangmyeon / tteokbokki

연습 2 — 오늘 수업이 끝나고 친구들과 하고 싶은 일이 있어요? 친구에게 물어보세요.

수업 끝나고 같이 밥 먹을래요?

Shall we eat together after class?

Vocabulary & grammar 2

다른 사람을 방문할 때 어떻게 해요?

What do you do when visiting someone?

방문 — visiting, step by step

미리 연락하다

to get in touch beforehand

약속 시간을 정하다 to agree a time

늦지 않게 도착하다

to arrive without being late

노크를 하다

to knock

인사를 나누다

to exchange greetings

명함을 건네다

to hand over your business card

다른 사람의 집이나 사무실을 방문할 때 미리 연락을 해요. 그리고 약속 시간을 정하는 게 좋아요.

When visiting someone's home or office, get in touch first. And it's best to agree a time.

미리 연락하다 is the rule that matters most. Turning up unannounced at a Korean home is not a pleasant surprise — the host would have wanted to prepare food and tidy the house. A message the day before is the minimum.

명함을 건네다 has its own etiquette in Korea: hand the card with both hands, facing the other person so they can read it, and take theirs the same way. Then look at it before putting it away — pocketing it unread is rude.

늦지 않게 is 'so as not to be late' — 않게 turns a negative into a manner. It is gentler than 늦지 마세요, which is an instruction, and you will hear it in the pronunciation practice at the end of the chapter.

여러분은 다른 사람을 방문할 때 어떻게 했어요?

What did you do the last time you visited someone?

저는 다른 사람의 집이나 사무실을 방문할 때, 먼저 인사를 한 다음에 명함을 건넸어요.

When I visited someone's home or office, I greeted them first and then handed over my card.

동형-으니까

Verb/Adjective + -으니까 — since, because 어떤 일의 이유나 원인을 말할 때 사용해요.

Used to give the reason or cause of something.

가 내일 중요한 회의가 있으니까 늦지 마세요.
There's an important meeting tomorrow, so don't be late.

나 네, 일찍 오겠습니다.
Right, I'll come early.

예문 — Examples

가 날씨가 좋으니까 산책하러 나갈까요?
The weather's nice — shall we go for a walk?

나 지금은 좀 더우니까 이따가 갑시다.
It's a bit hot right now, so let's go later.

밖에 비가 오니까 우산을 쓰세요.
It's raining outside, so take an umbrella.

집들이를 하니까 세제나 휴지를 사는 게 어때요?
It's a housewarming, so how about buying detergent or toilet roll?

Which form do I use?

-으니까 after a final consonant (받침)
먹다 → 먹으니까 · 많다 → 많으니까

-니까 after a vowel
사다 → 사니까 · ★힘들다 → 힘드니까

Tip '명이다'는 '명이니까'로 사용해요.
For a noun + 이다, use 이니까 — which is where the chapter title comes from: 집들이니까.

You now have three ways to give a reason, and they are not interchangeable. -아/어서 states a plain cause. -고 해서 offers one reason among several. -으니까 gives a reason for telling someone to do something — which is why it appears before requests, suggestions and instructions.

That difference has a hard edge: -아/어서 cannot be followed by an imperative or a suggestion. 비가 와서 우산을 쓰세요 is wrong; 비가 오니까 우산을 쓰세요 is right. If the second half tells someone to do something, use -으니까.

★힘들다 loses its ㄹ here — 힘드니까, not 힘들니까. This is the first ending in the book where the ㄹ actually drops, so it is worth pausing on. Compare 만들다 → 만드니까 and 살다 → 사니까.

연습 1 — 라흐만 씨의 생일 파티를 준비해요. 친구와 이야기해 보세요.

	이유	제안
보기 요일(시간) example: day and time	토요일에 한국어 수업이 있다 there's a Korean class on Saturday	일요일에 만나다 meet on Sunday
1) 파티 장소 the venue	행복 식당에 메뉴가 많다 Happiness Restaurant has a big menu there	거기로 가다

2) 선물
the present

라흐만 씨가 꽃을 좋아하다
Rahman likes flowers

꽃을 선물하다 give flowers

3) 할 일
what to do

라흐만 씨가 노래를 잘 부른다
Rahman sings well

식사 후에 노래방에 가다
go to karaoke after the meal

가 생일 파티를 언제 할까요?
When shall we have the birthday party?

나 토요일에 한국어 수업이 있으니까 일요일에 해요.
There's a Korean class on Saturday, so let's do it on Sunday.

연습 2 — 한국 친구가 여러분의 고향에 갈 때 무엇을 준비하면 좋아요? 그 이유는 뭐예요?

우리 고향은 지금 추우니까 두꺼운 옷을 가져가세요.

It's cold back home at the moment, so take warm clothes.

말하기와 듣기

Speaking & listening

특별한 날에 친구를 초대하려고 해요. 다음과 같이 이야기해 보세요.

You want to invite a friend for a special occasion. Practise the exchange.

고천 후엔 씨, 이번 주 토요일에 집들이를 할 거예요. 시간 있으면 우리 집에 올래요?

Huyen, we're having a housewarming this Saturday. If you're free, would you like to come?

후엔 네, 갈게요. 그런데 벌써 집 정리 다 했어요? 필요한 거 생각해 보고 얘기해 주세요. 선물로 가져갈게요.

Yes, I'll come. Have you finished sorting the place out already? Have a think about what you need and tell me — I'll bring it as a present.

고천 필요한 거 아무것도 없어요. 그냥 오세요.

We don't need anything. Just come.

후엔 집들이니까 세제나 휴지를 가져갈게요. 음식도 좀 만들어 가고요.

It's a housewarming, so I'll bring detergent or toilet roll. And I'll make some food to bring too.

Swap in these sets

1) 집들이 | 집 정리를 다 했다 | 집들이, 세제나 휴지

housewarming — finished sorting the place — detergent or toilet roll

2) 딸 돌잔치 | 딸이 돌이다 | 돌잔치, 금반지나 장난감

daughter's first birthday — she's turning one — a gold ring or a toy 필요한 거 아무것도 없어요 is not a refusal to be taken at face value. A Korean host will always say it, and the guest brings something anyway — as Huyen does in the very next line. Both halves of that exchange are expected.

Notice 가져갈게요, the -을게요 from chapter 2. It is a promise about your own action, which is exactly right for saying what you will bring. The chapter title is that ending and 으니까 in one sentence.

The polite way to ask what to bring is Huyen's: 필요한 거 생각해 보고 얘기해 주세요. Asking directly puts the host on the spot; inviting them to think about it and get back to you does not.

연습 2 — 여러분은 언제 친구를 초대하고 싶어요? 특별한 날에 친구를 초대해 보세요.

가 다음 주에 생일 파티를 할 거예요. 시간이 괜찮으면 파티에 올래요?

I'm having a birthday party next week. If you're free, would you like to come?

나 네, 꼭 갈게요.

Yes, I'll definitely come.

듣기 — 후엔 씨가 남편과 함께 집들이 선물을 고르고 있어요. 잘 듣고 답해 보세요.

1) ① 후엔 씨 가족은 집들이에 초대받았어요.

The family were invited to the housewarming. ○ /

1) ② 고천 씨는 녹차 선물을 받았어요.

Gochon was given green tea. ○ /

1) ③ 후엔 씨는 집들이 선물로 세제나 휴지를 살 거예요.

Huyen will buy detergent or toilet roll. ○ /

2) 고천 씨는 왜 후엔 씨 가족을 초대했어요?

Why did Gochon invite Huyen's family?

Questions

1) 교장 선생님이 제이슨 씨에게 이메일을 왜 썼어요?

→ 개학 전에 회의를 하고 싶어서 썼어요

2) 교장 선생님은 제이슨 씨를 언제 만나고 싶어요?

→ 다음 주에 만나고 싶어요

3) 메일을 읽은 다음에 제이슨 씨가 무엇을 할까요?

→ 답장을 쓸 거예요

Count the 시 in this email: 보내셨어요, 돌아오셨지요, 괜찮으세요, 오실래요, 확인하시면. The principal is senior but is writing to a colleague with full honorifics throughout. That is normal in Korean workplace email, not excessive.

오실래요? is this chapter's -을래요? with 시 inserted for respect. It keeps the friendliness of asking rather than telling, while raising the person asked — which is exactly what you want when inviting someone senior.

출근하니까 is the chapter's other grammar point doing its job: the reason comes first, and the request follows. Swapping in 출근해서 would be wrong, because what follows is a question asking him to come.

문화와 정보 — 집들이 선물

Culture & information — Housewarming presents

한국에서는 새집으로 이사하면 가족이나 친구, 친척들을 집으로 초대합니다.

In Korea, when people move into a new home they invite family, friends and relatives round.

이것을 '집들이'라고 합니다.

This is called a 집들이.

집들이에 갈 때 사람들은 휴지, 세제 같은 생활용품을 선물합니다.

Guests bring household things like toilet roll and detergent.

세제는 "세제의 거품처럼 돈을 많이 벌어서 부자가 되세요."라는 뜻이 있습니다.

Detergent carries the wish: "may your money multiply like the suds, and may you grow rich."

휴지는 잘 풀리기 때문에 모든 일이 잘 풀리기를 바라는 마음으로 휴지를 선물합니다.

Toilet roll unrolls smoothly, so it is given in the hope that everything will unfold smoothly too.

Both gifts are puns, and that is the whole point. 풀리다 means both 'to unroll' and 'to work out well', so a roll of paper is a wish for things to go smoothly. Knowing this turns an odd-looking present into a thoughtful one.

This is the promise chapter 3 made good on. There the housewarming list appeared without explanation; here is why detergent and toilet roll are on it, and why bringing either is considerate rather than strange.

What not to bring: anything sharp, like knives or scissors, which suggests cutting a relationship. If you would rather avoid the traditional gifts, a plant, a candle or something for the kitchen is safe.

발음 1 — 다음을 듣고 따라 읽으세요.

늦지 않게 [늘찌 안케]

ㅈ tenses to 찌, then ㅎ + ㄱ gives 케

막히니까 [마키니까]

ㄱ + ㅎ merges into 키

괜찮지만 [괘찬치만]

the ㅎ of the cluster aspirates the ㅈ into 치

All three are the ㅎ rule from chapter 5, seen from both sides. In 막히니까 the ㅎ follows the ㄱ; in 늦지 않게 and 괜찮지만 it precedes the consonant. Either way the two fuse into an aspirated sound.

괜찮다 has ㅎ inside a two-consonant 받침, ㅊ. The ㄴ stays and the ㅎ reaches forward to aspirate the next consonant, giving [괘찬치만]. The same happens in 많지 → [만치].

발음 2 — 다음을 듣고 연습해 보세요.
