

13과 버스로 공항에 가요

Chapter 13 — I go to the airport by bus

This chapter at a glance

주제	Topic 교통 — transport
어휘와 문법	Vocabulary & grammar 교통수단 / 명으로(수단) / 동-으러 가다/오다 — means of transport · marking how you travel · going somewhere in order to do something
활동	Activities 교통편 묻고 답하기, 행선지와 교통편 쓰기 — asking and answering about transport; writing where you are going and how
문화와 정보	Culture & information 한국의 대중교통 수단 — public transport in Korea

The two grammar points answer the two questions you get asked whenever you leave the house: how are you getting there, and what are you going for. 으로 answers the first, -으러 가다 the second.

You have met 으로 before without being told its name — 손가락과 젓가락으로 in chapter 7, 이쪽으로 in chapter 10. It has always marked the means or the direction. Here it finally gets a page of its own.

도입

Warm-up

이 사람은 어디에 가요? 무엇을 탔어요?

Where is this person going? What did they take?

여러분은 오늘 어디에 가요? 어떻게 가요?

Where are you going today? How are you getting there?

The page shows three transport scenes: a woman on an airport bus, with the 인천공항 sign on the motorway gantry ahead; a man arriving at subway exit 9; and a street of cars, taxis, a motorbike and a cyclist in the bike lane. Airport bus, subway, road — the three worlds this chapter names.

어떻게 가요? is the question the whole chapter is built to answer. It means "how do you go?", and the reply always uses 으로: 버스로 가요, 지하철로 가요, 걸어서 가요.

탔어요 is the past of 타다 from chapter 9. Note that Korean asks 무엇을 탔어요 — "what did you ride?" — where English would say "how did you get here?". The vehicle becomes the object of a verb.

어휘와 문법 1

Vocabulary & grammar 1

여러분은 무엇을 타요?

What do you take?

The page is a wheel: a classroom in the middle, and around it the ways the students got there. Six of the seven are vehicles; the last one is not.

교통수단 — Means of transport

자동차

car

버스

bus

지하철

subway, metro

택시

taxi

자전거 bicycle

오토바이

motorbike, scooter

걸어서

on foot

걸어서 is the odd one out and worth pausing on. It is not a noun and it does not take 으로 — you cannot say 걸어로. It is 걷다 plus -어서, already meaning "by walking", so it goes straight into the sentence: 걸어서 가요.

오토바이 comes from the English "auto-bicycle", by way of Japanese, and covers everything from a delivery scooter to a large motorcycle. Korean did not borrow "motorcycle" itself.

자동차 is the general word for a car, and 차 alone usually does the job in speech: 차로 가요. Be aware that 차 is also tea, as in 차를 마시다 from chapter 9 — context separates them easily enough.

여러분은 무엇을 자주 타요? 이야기해 보세요.

What do you take often? Talk about it.

자주 is the "often" from chapter 7, still sitting directly in front of the verb. 저는 지하철을 자주 타요 — the frequency word never drifts to the end of the sentence.

명으로(수단)

Noun + 으로 — by what means

이동의 교통수단을 말할 때 사용해요.

Used to say what you travel by.

가 버스로 집에 가요?
Are you going home by bus?

나 아니요, 지하철로 가요.
No, I'm going by subway.

예문 — Examples

가 라민 씨, 학교에 어떻게 와요?
Ramin, how do you get to school?

나 자전거로 와요.
I come by bicycle.

공항에 택시로 가요.
I'm going to the airport by taxi.

으로 — after a final consonant (받침)

여객선 → 여객선으로
by passenger ferry

로 — after a vowel, and after ㄹ

비행기 → 비행기로
by plane

버스 → 버스로
by bus

★ 지하철 → 지하철로
by subway — ㄹ takes 로

The star on 지하철 marks the one thing that makes this particle different from every other 받침 rule you have learned. A word ending in ㄹ takes the short 로, not 으로 — because ㄹ and ㄹ do not stack comfortably. So 지하철로, 서울로, 이메일로.

That gives you three cases rather than two: consonant → 으로, vowel → 로, and ㄹ → 로 as well. If you remember that ㄹ behaves like a vowel here, you have the whole rule.

This is the same 으로 you met in chapter 7 as 손가락과 젓가락으로 — eating with something — and in chapter 10 as 이쪽으로, "this way". One particle, three jobs: instrument, direction, and now vehicle.

Do not confuse it with 에 and 에서. 공항에 택시로 가요 has both: 에 marks the destination, 으로 marks the means. They answer different questions and can sit happily in the same sentence.

연습 1 — 어디에 어떻게 가요? 이야기해 보세요.

가 공원에 어떻게 가요?
How do you get to the park?

나 자전거로 가요.
I go by bicycle.

보기) 공원 / 자전거
park / bicycle → 자전거로 가요

1) 학교 / 지하철
school / subway → 지하철로 가요

2) 서울 / 기차

Seoul / train → 기차로 가요

3) 고향(베트남) / 비행기

home (Vietnam) / plane → 비행기로 가요

Item 1 is the starred case in disguise: 지하철 ends in ㄹ, so it is 지하철로 and never 지하철으로. The exercise puts it first on purpose.

연습 2 — 여러분은 오늘 어디에 가요? 거기에 어떻게 가요? 이야기해 보세요.

어휘와 문법 2

Vocabulary & grammar 2

어디예요? 여기에서 무엇을 이용해요?

Where is this? What do you use here?

The place, and what you catch there

정류장	bus stop 버스 — the bus
공항	airport 비행기 — the plane
지하철역	subway station 지하철 — the subway
기차역	railway station 기차 — the train
고속버스 터미널	express bus terminal 고속버스 — the express coach
택시 타는 곳	taxi rank 택시 — the taxi

역 is the word for a station, and it attaches to whatever runs through it: 지하철역, 기차역, and the name of any stop — 강남역, 서울역. A bus, by contrast, stops at a 정류장, never a 역.

택시 타는 곳 is literally "the place where you catch a taxi" — 곳 means place, and 타는 is 타다 in a form you have not learned yet. Read it as a fixed sign for now; you will meet the grammar behind it later.

고속버스 means express coach — 고속 is "high speed", the same word as in 고속도로, motorway. These run between cities from a dedicated 터미널, and are the cheap alternative to the KTX.

이용하다 means "to use" a service or facility, and it is the verb for public transport in signs and announcements. In conversation you would more often say 타다, but 이용하다 is what you will read.

여러분은 무엇을 자주 이용해요? 이야기해 보세요.

What do you use often? Talk about it.

동-으러 가다/오다

Verb + -으러 가다/오다 — going in order to do something 이동의 목적을 나타낼 때 사용해요.

Used to give the purpose of going somewhere.

가 공원에 가요?
Are you going to the park?

나 네, 자전거 타러 가요.
Yes, I'm going to ride my bike.

예문 — Examples

가 라흐만 씨, 한국에 왜 왔어요?
Rahman, why did you come to Korea?

나 일하러 왔어요.
I came to work.

친구들과 식당에 점심을 먹으러 가요.
I'm going to a restaurant with friends to have lunch.

-으러 가다 — after a final consonant (받침)

받다 → 받으러 가다
to go and collect something

찾다 → 찾으러 가다
to go and fetch something

-러 가다 — after a vowel, and after ㄹ

사다 → 사러 가다
to go and buy something

타다 → 타러 가다
to go and ride something

만들다 → 만들러 가다
to go and make something — ㄹ takes 러

The ㄹ rule from the facing page appears again: 만들다 ends in ㄹ, so it takes the short 러 with nothing added. Two grammar points, one exception, and it is the same exception — which is why the book puts them opposite each other.

This ending only works with verbs of movement. 가다, 오다 and 다니다 are the whole list. You cannot say 먹으러 공부해요; the purpose has to attach to going or coming.

The order is the reverse of English. Korean puts the purpose first and the movement last: 점심을 먹으러 가요, "lunch-to-eat I go". Get used to hearing the destination verb at the very end.

왜 왔어요? — 일하러 왔어요 is worth memorising as a pair. It is the question every immigrant in Korea is asked, and this is the natural way to answer it.

연습 1 — 다음 사람들은 어디에 가요? 거기에 왜 가요?

가 제이슨 씨가 어디에 가요? 거기에 왜 가요?
Where is Jason going? Why is he going there?

나 버스 정류장에 가요. 버스를 타러 가요.
He's going to the bus stop. He's going to catch a bus.

보기) 제이슨 / 버스 정류장 / 버스를 타다

Jason / bus stop / catch a bus → 타러 가요

2) 안젤라 / 회사 / 일하다

Angela / the office / work → 일하러 가요

1) 이링 / 교실 / 수업을 듣다

Yiling / classroom / attend class → 들으러 가요

3) 아나이스 / 도서관 / 책을 빌리다

Anaïs / the library / borrow a book → 빌리러 가요

Item 1 hides the ㄷ-irregular one more time: 듣다 → 들으러 가요, not 듣으러. By chapter 13 this verb has changed shape in six different endings, and it is always the same change.

수업을 듣다 is "to take a class" — literally to listen to it. Korean uses 듣다 for attending a course the way English uses "take", and 수업을 받다 would sound wrong.

연습 2 — 여러분은 오늘 어디에 가요? 거기에 왜 가요? 이야기해 보세요.

말하기와 듣기

Speaking & listening

잠시드 씨와 보부르 씨가 이야기해요. 다음과 같이 이야기해 보세요.

Jamshid and Bobur are talking. Practise the conversation below.

보부르 잠시드 씨, 어디에 가요?

Jamshid, where are you going?

잠시드 은행에 가요.

I'm going to the bank.

보부르 은행에 왜 가요?

Why are you going to the bank?

잠시드 환전하러 가요.

I'm going to change money.

보부르 그래요? 지하철로 가요?

Really? Are you going by subway?

잠시드 아니요, 버스로 가요.

No, I'm going by bus.

Swap in these sets

1) 은행 | 환전하다 | 버스

bank | change money | bus

2) 우체국 | 소포를 보내다 | 자전거

post office | send a parcel | bicycle

These six lines put the whole chapter in order: where, why, how. 은행에 가요 — 환전하러 가요 — 버스로 가요. That sequence is exactly what someone asks when they run into you on the street.

환전하다 is to change currency, from 환 (exchange) and 전 (money). Korean banks do this at a counter, and you will need your 외국인등록증. The word is worth knowing before you need it.

우체국 is the post office, and 소포 is a parcel as opposed to a letter, 편지. Korean post offices also handle banking and international money transfers, so 우체국 comes up more often than you might expect.

연습 2 — 여러분도 친구에게 오늘 어디에 가는지 물어보세요.

가 오늘 어디에 가요?

Where are you going today?

나 거기에 어떻게 가요?

How are you getting there?

듣기 — 안젤라 씨가 라민 씨와 이야기해요. 잘 듣고 답해 보세요.

1) 안젤라 씨는 공항에 왜 가요?

Why is Angela going to the airport?

2) 안젤라 씨는 공항에 어떻게 가요?

How is Angela getting to the airport?

The two questions are 왜 and 어떻게 — the two halves of this chapter. Expect the answers to come back as 만나러 가요 and 버스로 가요 or similar; listen for the 러 and the 로.

단어장 — New words

환전하다

to change money

Reading & writing

다음 글을 읽고 질문에 답해 보세요.

Read the passage and answer the questions.

지난 주말에 아들 유진하고 남산에 갔습니다.

Last weekend I went to Namsan with my son Yujin.

우리는 남산 근처까지 지하철로 갔습니다. 그리고 걸어서 남산으로 올라갔습니다.

We took the subway as far as the area near Namsan, then walked up the mountain.

조금 힘들었지만 기분은 좋았습니다.

It was a little hard, but it felt good.

우리는 산책도 하고 사진도 찍었습니다.

We went for a walk and took photos too.

그리고 남산 서울 타워 전망대에도 올라갔습니다.

And we went up to the observation deck of Namsan Seoul Tower.

유진은 케이블카를 타고 싶어 했습니다.

Yujin wanted to ride the cable car.

그래서 다음에 케이블카를 타러 남산에 다시 갈 겁니다.

So next time we'll go back to Namsan to ride the cable car.

The last sentence is the chapter's grammar at full stretch: 케이블카를 타러 남산에 다시 갈 겁니다 — purpose with 러, destination with 에, and the future 갈 겁니다 from chapter 12, all in one line.

남산으로 올라갔습니다 uses 으로 in its direction sense, not its vehicle sense — up towards the mountain. Compare it with 지하철로 two words earlier, which is the means. Same particle, two jobs, one sentence.

타고 싶어 했습니다 is the third-person want from chapter 7: Yujin is someone else, so it is 싶어 하다 and not 싶다. Six chapters later the rule is still doing exactly the same work.

남산 is the wooded hill in the middle of Seoul with the tower on top, and it is the city's most ordinary family outing. You can walk up, take the cable car, or ride a bus part of the way — which is why it suits a transport chapter.

Questions

1) 이 사람은 지난 주말에 누구와 어디에 갔어요?

Who did this person go with, and where? → 아들 유진하고 남산에 갔어요

2) 맞으면 ○, 틀리면 X 하세요.

Mark ○ if correct, X if wrong.

① 두 사람은 남산까지 버스로 갔습니다.

They went to Namsan by bus — , by subway and then on foot

② 두 사람은 케이블카를 타러 갔습니다.

They went to ride the cable car — , that is for next time

③ 두 사람은 남산 서울 타워 전망대에 올라갔습니다.

They went up to the tower's observation deck — ○

④ 두 사람은 다시 남산에 갈 겁니다.

They will go back to Namsan — ○

Both false statements turn on a detail rather than a keyword. ① swaps the vehicle; ② moves an event from the future into the past. The passage mentions buses nowhere and puts the cable car firmly in 다음에.

여러분은 주말에 무엇을 하러 어디에 갔어요? 거기까지 어떻게 갔어요? 글로 써 보세요.

The question hands you the shape of the answer: 무엇을 하러 (purpose, with 러), 어디에 (destination), 어떻게 (means, with 으로). Write it in the past, as the passage does.

문화와 정보 — 한국의 대중교통 수단

Culture & information — Public transport in Korea

한국에는 대중교통 수단이 많습니다.

Korea has a great many forms of public transport.

시내버스, 광역 버스/시외버스, 지하철, 택시, 고속버스, 기차가 있습니다.

There are city buses, regional and intercity buses, the subway, taxis, express coaches and trains.

사람들이 도시 안에서 이동할 때에는 시내버스, 지하철, 택시를 탑니다.

To get around inside a city, people take city buses, the subway or taxis.

도시 밖으로 나갈 때에는 지하철을 타거나 광역 버스/시외버스를 탑니다.

To go outside the city, they take the subway or a regional or intercity bus.

먼 곳에 갈 때에는 기차나 고속버스를 탑니다.

For somewhere far away, they take a train or an express coach.

한국에는 교통 카드가 있어서 버스, 지하철, 택시를 탈 때 편리합니다.

Korea has transport cards, which make taking buses, the subway and taxis convenient.

The passage is organised by distance, and that is the useful way to remember it: inside the city, out to the suburbs, and far away. Each band has its own vehicles.

The 교통 카드 is the practical point here. One card — T-money, Cashbee, or a card-linked bank account — works on buses, the subway and most taxis nationwide, and transfers between bus and subway within 30 minutes are free or nearly so. Tap on when you board and tap off when you leave: forgetting to tap off costs you the maximum fare.

시내 means "inside the city" and 시외 "outside" it, from 시 (city). 광역 means "wide area" — the buses that run between a city and its surrounding region. Once you can read those three words you can read most bus signage.

-을 때 means "when" and attaches to a verb: 탈 때, when you ride. It uses the same ㄹ form as the future 탈 거예요 from chapter 12. You are not expected to build it yet, but it appears four times on this page.

Questions

1) 한국의 대중교통 수단은 무엇이 있어요?

What public transport does Korea have? → 시내버스, 광역 버스, 시외버스, 지하철, 택시, 고속버스, 기차가 있어요

2) 한국 사람들이 먼 곳에 갈 때 무엇을 타요?

What do Koreans take to go far away? → 기차나 고속버스를 타요

3) 여러분은 주로 무엇을 타요?

What do you mostly take?

주로 means "mainly, mostly" and goes in front of the verb, like 자주. 저는 주로 지하철을 타요 — the two adverbs sit in the same slot and are worth learning as a pair.

발음 1 — 다음을 듣고 따라 읽으세요.

어떻게	[어떠케] eo-tteo-ke
버스 정류장	[버스 정뉴장] beo-seu jeong-nyu-jang
지하철역	[지하철력] ji-ha-cheol-lyeok

어떻게 → [어떠케] is the ㅈ merger you met in chapter 10 and again in chapter 11's 축하해요. Nothing new — but it is the most common question word in this chapter, so it earns another airing.

정류장 → [정뉴장] is new: a ㅐ following the ㅇ sound of a previous syllable turns into ㅛ. The same change gives 정리 → [정니] and 종로 → [종노], the Seoul district foreigners so often mispronounce.

지하철역 → [지하철력] is the most involved sound change in the book so far, and it happens in two steps. First a ㄴ appears at the front of 역 because it follows a consonant-final word and starts with 이/여 — giving [넥]. Then that new ㄴ meets the ㅈ of 철 and assimilates to it, giving [력]. Compound station names do this constantly, so it is worth the effort.

발음 2 — 다음을 듣고 연습해 보세요.

가	학교에 어떻게 가요? How do you get to school?
나	버스로 가요. By bus.
가	어디에 가요? Where are you going?
나	버스 정류장에 가요. I'm going to the bus stop.
가	여기에서 지하철역까지 어떻게 가요? How do I get from here to the subway station?
나	걸어서 가세요. 가까워요. Go on foot. It's close.

The last exchange is the one to memorise. 여기에서 ... 까지 is the from-to pair from chapter 6 applied to places, and 걸어서 가세요 answers with the walking form rather than a vehicle. 가까워요 means "it's near"; its opposite is 멀어요.
